

The background of the cover features a 3D molecular model. A green ribbon represents a protein structure, which is shown interacting with a complex ligand. The ligand is composed of several interconnected rings and chains, colored in yellow, purple, blue, and red. The entire complex is set against a light blue, semi-transparent surface that resembles a protein's binding pocket or a specific cellular environment. The overall aesthetic is scientific and modern.

JGP

Journal of General
Physiology

VOL 150 • NO 4 • APRIL 2018

WWW.JGP.ORG

Rockefeller
University
Press